DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-4, 18, 54, 72, 73, drawn to a substrate platform, classified in class 435, subclass 288.4.
 - II. Claims 53, 55-59, drawn to methods of nucleic acid detection, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
 - III. Claim 60, drawn to methods of protein detection, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.

(With regard to claim 68, while the claim is listed as amended, the claim is also listed as cancelled. Therefore, the claim will be treated as cancelled for purposes of this restriction.)

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions in Groups II and III and in Group I are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the open substrate platform can be used in the nucleic acid or protein methods of Groups II and III, in analyzing blood samples by microscopy, in analyzing cells in cell culture for transfection efficiency or in a myriad of other methods in which slides are used.

3. Inventions in Group II and in Group III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are unrelated because the products detected by each Group differ in structure, function and effect, have different modes of operation, and yield different results. Specifically, the proteins of Group III are polymers composed of amino acids which have specific inhibitory or activating activities based upon their three dimensional folded structure and act directly on chemical or biological pathways. The nucleic acids of Group II have an entirely different chemical structure, being composed of nucleotides, and operate by hybridization and by serving as an information template. .

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Also, because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. A telephone call was made to Peter Corless on June 16, 2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
